CH2M HILL - KZF Design Wins National Design Award from U.S. Air Force

August 02, 2008

- CH2M HILL and KZF Design announced today that they received a U.S. Air Force national design award for concept design of the United States Transportation Command (USTRANSCOM) consolidation facility at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois.

The companies were presented the 2008 USAF Merit Award for Concept Design at the 33rd annual U.S. Air Force Design Awards Ceremony held in Washington, DC. Regarded as much more than an awards competition, the winning projects establish the benchmark of design excellence that the Air Force expects for all its facilities and installations.

CH2M HILL is a global leader in engineering, procurement, construction and operations and is headquartered in Englewood, Colo. KZF Design is a leading national full-service architecture, engineering, interior design and planning firm headquartered in Cincinnati, Ohio. The $74 million USTRANSCOM project at Scott Air Force Base includes 220,000 square feet of new construction and addition/alteration of facilities to consolidate command operations from across the United States.

'We are honored to receive this prestigious design award,' said Douglas L. Marsh, Director of KZF Design's Government and Justice Group, who accepted the award at the USAF ceremony in the nation's capitol. 'Our experience working with the U.S. Air Force and other branches of the U.S. military has been gratifying. The success of this design project is a demonstration of the superb partnership between CH2M HILL and KZF Design, as well as the great collaboration that we realized with the Air Force, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and all involved.'

Scott Air Force Base is located in Illinois, near the St. Louis metropolitan area in St. Clair County, Ill. The base serves as the headquarters for Air Mobility Command, USTRANSCOM, Eighteenth Air Force and the Air Force Communications Agency.

The construction of the USTRANSCOM Consolidation facility at Scott Air Force Base was required as a result of the 2005 Base Closure and Realignment Commission. The project consolidates USTRANSCOM, U.S. Army Surface Deployment and Distribution Command and U.S. Navy with existing Air Force and USTRANSCOM mission elements already at the base. The facility is strategically located in the downtown district of the base and helps to develop a corporate pedestrian campus for the area while providing a connector between the two major USTRANSCOM facilities. The facility's open plan maximizes flexibility to accommodate frequent mission changes; the design also maintains highly secure operational requirements.

'We appreciate the panel of judges' comments about the design of the project,' Marsh added.

In awarding CH2M HILL and KZF Design the 2008 USAF Design Award Merit Level, the judges included these notations:

- Appears innovative yet highly compatible with Scott Air Force Base
- Very unique design solution
- Well-organized floor plans
- Creative use of sloping and flat roofs to reduce building mass while adding interest.
- Good integration of multiple components into a cohesive facility.

About the U.S. Air Force Design Awards

The U.S. Air Force Design Awards Program was established in 1976 to recognize and promote design excellence. The program is widely recognized throughout the federal government and is supported with enthusiastic participation by notable professionals in the private sector. Much more than simply an awards competition, the winning projects establish the benchmark of design excellence that the Air Force expects for all its facilities and installations. The program itself is a proud recipient of the 2000 Federal Design Achievement Award, which recognizes exceptional design achievement from all sectors of the Federal Government.

- Improvement Direct, No. 148 Internet Retailer Top 500 Guide, announces today the launch of their American Red Cross Promotion. During the week long promotion, lasting August 11-17, Improvement Direct will donate 3% of all purchases from www.LightingDirect.com to the Red Cross Disaster Relief fund. The promotion, which began as a project for the summer interns, stemmed from the company's desire to help Americans affected by natural disasters around the country, and the wildfires happening in Improvement Directs Northern California area. 'I am very excited about this promotion and the opportunity to help those in need,' said Julie Gardner, V.P. of Vendor Relations. 'We very much appreciate the overwhelming response from our vendors' desire to get involved as well. We are hoping to make a significant contribution, and we appreciate our key partners which are helping to make this happen.' Improvement Direct is being supported by Kichler, Quoizel, Murray Feiss, Sea Gull, Emerson, and Monte Carlo lighting companies who are matching Lighting Directs donation to the Red Cross. Customers can contribute to this promotion by going to www.LightingDirect.com and purchasing one of the many varieties of competitively-priced lighting fixtures. 'It is the chance to make a change in the world and help those in need that inspires us to make this fund raiser as successful as possible,' said Diane Russell, Copywriting Intern, summer 2008. About Improvement Direct Headquartered in Chico, California, Improvement Direct has established itself as a groundbreaking and prominent home improvement e-tailer.
