

KZF Design's Director of Justice Planning and Design published in Sheriff Magazine

industry leader

KZF Design's Director of Justice Planning and Design, David Bostwick, AIA, LEED® AP, was recently published in the July/August 2009 issue of Sheriff Magazine. David's article, "Money Well Spent," explores the ways a comprehensive, responsive jail planning process can pay for itself over the life of a facility.

David brings more than 20 years of criminal justice planning and design experience to KZF, and has been involved in the design and construction of correctional facilities across the region and throughout the US.
