

KZF's Alan Sullivan Joins Discussion of Lean Design for Healthcare Facilities

Alan Sullivan, AIA, ACHA, Director of Healthcare at KZF, will moderate the panel discussion, "How Lean Design of Healthcare Can Improve Your Hospital's Bottom Line," at the ASHE/AHA 2011 International Summit of Health Facility Planning, Design & Construction (PDC). The PDC will be held March 13-16 in Tampa, Florida.

The panel presentation will explore how Lean Design processes used by the US Air Force, Toyota and others can be successfully implemented in the healthcare setting, resulting in increased operational efficiencies and, most importantly, improved patient outcomes.

Alan will share his expertise, gained over 30 years in healthcare facility design, and offer real-world examples of Lean Design and its cost-saving potential to hospitals and other providers.
